PETITIONING THE COURT

To Delete Special Condition Number One (1):

1. The defendant shall participate in a program of mental health treatment, as directed by the probation officer, until such time as the defendant is released from the program by the probation officer, and shall pay at least a portion of the cost according to his ability, as determined by the probation officer.

CAUSE

During his mental health session, Mr. Modena refused to sign his treatment plan in fear it would go to his probation officer or the Court and prolong his time in treatment. Mr. Modena indicated he does not need therapy and will not benefit from it. Per his therapist, a treatment plan is a necessity to be in services. The therapist does not believe Mr. Modena is making any progress on his mental health or any buy in for his treatment. Mr. Modena has been attending but he is not participating or making any progress.

This officer spoke with Mr. Modena on November 13, 2014 at the probation office. To his credit, he has been reporting as required, maintains full time employment and maintains an approved residence. Mr. Modena has also been attending mental health treatment but he does not make it easy for the therapist. Mr. Modena's focus is on trying to get court ordered contact with his kids. Mr. Modena's beliefs are so ingrained in him and he is intelligent enough to truly circumvent any real progress in treatment. He admitted on November 13, 2014, that he wants a treatment plan that would indicate exactly how many more sessions he would have to attend and this officer assured him it does not work that way. When it comes down to it, Mr. Modena will not change no matter how many therapy sessions he attends and it is possible it would be more detrimental to continue to require mental health treatment long term. At this point, mental health treatment for Mr. Modena appears to be a waste of time and resources. If there are any new concerns that present themselves in the future with Mr. Modena, he could be immediately referred to mental health treatment again.

This matter was brought to the Court's attention via e-mail correspondence and Your Honor requested the above mentioned condition be removed.
